

iDoc from IDM

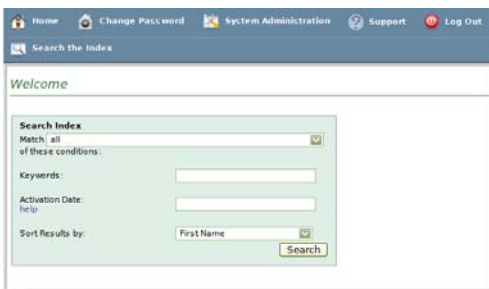

Web based archives for any kind of document

Paper documents and computer reports are difficult to find and expensive to store. Microfiche or microfilm solutions limit retrieval to costly workstations. CD based systems offer limited storage and retrieval options. In-house systems require costly IT effort and integration.

IDM's iDoc lets you archive any kind of document with no changes to your current systems. Simply provide the electronic output of your data (almost any format will do) or paper documents from your current system to us and we will do the rest. Paper documents are scanned and indexed. All of these images are added to your secure, web-based repository for instant access.

electronic output of your data (almost any format will do) or paper documents from your current system to us and we will do the rest. Paper documents are scanned and indexed. All of these images are added to your secure, web-based repository for instant access.

Your document archives are accessible 7x24x365 via any modern web browser. Your documents can be found instantly by unlimited indexes or by using a "google" type search.

Your on-line documents look exactly like their paper counterparts. Documents can be kept online indefinitely. You can find, review, email and print your documents at any time.

Security is controlled at the user, document collection or individual document level.

Your documents are hosted on our secure servers. Our datacenters offer the highest level of security, are multi-location with continuous uptime.
